Introduction

This list of personnel has been compiled whilst researching A history of the 9th Battalion Royal Scots, and forms an index of various sources. Users are in all cases directed to the source information.

I hope it will be of some use to those researching family members. Please be aware that there is considerable room for error in a list such as this, and sincere apologies are expressed for any errors that may be found.

Similarly, this index points at a lot of other people's hard work, and their publications should always be viewed to see the information in its original form. If you wish something deleted, or would like an attribution changed, please contact me.

Corrections, clarifications and additions are all welcome to neillgilhooley@gmail.com

Notes on the Index

1. Names are for the 9th Bn Royal Scots including 2/9th and 3/9th, attached etc.
2. The left hand column of the list contains an alphabetical list of surnames and information. The right hand column provides a reference, listed below under "Sources," or "-" where a direct weblink or source is provided in the main text box
3. Names therefore often appear more than once, from different sources. These may not always be grouped together, for example where the surname is followed by either initials or a full forename the same man may appear on different pages. Different spellings are also evident, some surnames are quoted single- or double-barrelled, such as Haddon or Ross Haddon, and with and without a hyphen, like Henderson Hamilton. Other variations can be found with names such as McEwen and MacEwen, or de Berry. To find a piece of text, press Ctrl and F to open a search box
4. Some of the original hand written text or print is not clear so errors may have been introduced by eye or by scanning to text, in all instances the reader is directed to the original and to the image rather than the scanned text version
5. Speculative connections are preceded by "?"

SW	Soldier's Wills on Scotlands People www.scotlandspeople.gov.uk Listed as surname, forename, rank, number, date of death, cause of death, theatre. Two men appear without surname in the list, but from the CWGC list can be assumed to be Martin McLaughlan and Peter McGhie.
SWB	Silver War Badge record from ancestry.co.uk. A search on "Discharge Unit: 9 R. Scots" (exact) gives 169 returns. Suspiciously 106 of these are listed in a new field of 'regiment' as Cameronians (Scottish Rifles) and these have been marked with [*]. The two regiments can be confused if their initials are transposed. Original source quoted as War Office and Air Ministry: Service Medal and Award Rolls, First World War . Silver War Badge. TNA	The National Archives http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/ Results of search on 9 th Royal Scots. Note these results are almost entirely from A-G of the alphabet. Thanks to Guy Grannum at TNA for confirming that this is the full available listing, he also notes that a search on Royal Scots produces over 97,000 records.

He entered the Army, 1886; was promoted Captain, 1894; served in the Sudan, 1898; was present at the actions at Atbara and Khartoum (British Medal; Khedive's Medal with two clasps). He	- served in the South African War, 1900-2; during operations in the Orange Free State, February to May 1900, and in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions at Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); during operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 November 1900 including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) and Ladybrand (2 to 5 September). Captain Egerton served on the Staff, as Assistant Provost Marshal, from 24 June 1900; during operations in the Transvaal, January 1901 to 31 May 1902, and Orange River Colony 30 November 1900 to January 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 September 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with four clasps; the King's Medal with two clasps, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 September 1901]: "Arthur Frederick Egerton, Captain, Cameron Highlanders. In recognition of services during the operations in South Africa". The Insignia were presented by the King 24 October 1902. He retired from the Cameron Highlanders, 1902, and was Captain, Reserve of Officers.

Royal Scots, aged 22 years, eldest son of Mr and Mrs Ellis, The Crossings, Glenormiston, Innerleithen; deeply regretted. Mr and Mrs Ellis, The Crossings, Glenormiston, had received official intimation that their eldest son, Private J. Ellis, of the Royal Scots, had been missing since 20th September. Private Ellis joined up almost at the beginning of hostilities, on 30th August, 1914, in Kitchener's Army. Drafted to France in the Royal Scots in May, 1915, he saw much active service in the Ypres section and Somme battles. He was twice home on sick leave. He was 22 years of age, and before enlistment was engaged as a railway goods porter at Innerleithen station. Ezzi, Emilie 44129 30 th August 1918 On Saturday, Mr and Mrs Ezzi, Whitburn Road, Bathgate, was officially informed that their son, Private Emile Ezzi, had been killed in action in France on 1 st August. Writing to Mrs Ezzie, under date August 20th Chaplain A. Robertson, Royal Scots, says: - 'Dear Mrs Ezzi, I am sorry to have to convey to you the sad news of the death in action of your son, Pte E. Ezzi. I have been prevented from writing to you so promptly as I would have done because of the large list of casualties. His Battalion was engaged in the very heavy fighting in the south, and suffered many casualties there. Along with many others, your son was killed by heavy shell in an attack made by us on 1 st August near Buzancy Village, south of Soissons. He died the death of a brave man, as they all played a gallant part that day. His comrades in the Battalion all extend to you their deepest sympathy with you in your hour of sorrow. We trust that you and the other members of your household will be strengthened to endure patiently this trial, and that you may be comforted by God himself. Who alone can turn this time of distress into a period of blessing hereafter. I should mention that the dead were buried together in a corner of the battlefield, and the place was marked by a cross.' Private Ezzi was in his 22 nd year. He joined the H.L.I. on 23 rd October 1917, on 30 th March this year he was drafted to France, and transferred to the Royal Scots. Another son of Mr and Mrs Ezzi is in training with the H.L.I. in Scotland. West Lothian Courier, courtesy Alf McM, using Calder, Jackie, 'The Royal Scots 1860-1916', by permission. GWF topic 236321	-

Farrimond, Arthur, Pte, 12th Platoon, 'C' Coy, No.2774  Arthur Farrimond was born on Sept 30th 1893 to James and Margaret Farrimond at 9 Hill Street, Hindley, Lancs. He won his first race at the age of seventeen at the Westhoughton town sports in 1910. He joined the Bolton club then Leigh Harriers in 1911. In February 1914 he became a medal winner in the Junior East-Lancashire cross country championships. When war broke out he was a commercial traveller for Messrs. J.Smith & Co., wine & spirit merchants. He enlisted in the 9th Royal Scots on November 11th 1914. While serving in France he won the French medallion in a 1½ mile race for his regiment. He reached the front line in January 1915 where he was wounded in the knee; he was again wounded in the stomach in August 1916 as a result of a bayonet charge, and made a full recovery while in Ward 16 of the Merry Flatts Hospital, Govan, Glasgow. In March 1915 one of his letters home was published in the local newspaper, speaking of his ordeal in the trenches and also saying he had made up his mind to try and get to Berlin in 1916 for the Olympic Games, but unknown to him, there would be no 1916 games and he would not resume his training until 1919, too late even for the 1920 games. Arthur married Emily Birch in 1922 and also regained his running fitness after the war and was becoming well known as a distance runner. He still won one mile races at Abergele and Whitehaven. He ran 2nd in the 1923 and 1924 Manchester marathons, and it was from these races that he was selected to run for Britain in the 1924 Paris Olympics. Arthur was the second Britain to finish in Paris and had to suffer the last few miles with a twist of his ankle, which he received trying to avoid a civilian who would insist on running alongside him. There were 58 entrants representing other world countries in the race and it was no small achievement to finish seventeenth in an Olympic marathon. Arthur returned home to his job as an electrician in the employment of the Wigan Coal and Iron Company. He continued to run in races for the next fifty years with the club. In later years Arthur ran a newsagents shop at Westhoughton.	-

Arthur died in November 1978 aged 85 years old, his ashes being in the family grave at Hindley cemetery. His wife Emily died in 1984 aged ninety. They had no children. [See website for more information] http://www.boltonrevisited.org.uk/p-arthur-farrimond.html

At the outbreak of war Col Ferguson took command of the new second line battalion 2/9th, and later formed yet another, the 3/9th battalion. In February 1915 his horse slipped on ice, as he was supervising training in the Braid Hills, and he was absent until June with a broken arm. He retired in the spring of 1917. Died at Edinburgh 25th April 1917

Ferguson was the author of various books, including 'Two Scottish Soldiers' on his ancestors Brigadier Ferguson "a soldier of 1688 and Blenheim" and Lieutenant-Colonel Patrick Ferguson "a soldier of the American Revolution" and inventor of the breechloading rifle. Of the latter he writes 'He saw no difficulties in combining the character of a soldier with that of a citizen'.

Lieutenant-Colonel James Ferguson, V.D., our first Commanding Officer. He received his first commission on 28th July, 1874, as a Sub-Lieutenant in the 17th Aberdeenshire Rifle Volunteer Corps (Old Deer), afterwards consolidated with others to form the 3rd Aberdeenshire Rifle Volunteer Battalion (The Buchan Rifles). This subsequently became the old Volunteer Battalion (The Buchan) Gordon Highlanders. He was promoted Captain 1880, and Hon. Major in 1889, receiving the Volunteer Decoration in 1894.

On the 21st September, 1914, Lieutenant-Colonel Ferguson was appointed to command the 2/9th Royal Scots, and in May 1915, owing to a severe accident, he was transferred to command the 3/9th (Highlanders) Royal Scots. This distinguished officer has spent almost a lifetime in the neighbourhood of Scottish soldiers, and by his untiring energy and zeal has done much to foster the military spirit in Volunteer circles. He is also the author of many books on military subjects. Lieutenants Colonel James Ferguson was born in 1857, and is the eldest son of William Ferguson of Kinmundy. He is a DL and member of the Territorial Association of the County of Aberdeen. He became MA in 1876, and a member of the Scots Bar in 1879. We wish him many more years of usefulness and activity in the profession he has so much at heart.

The Leather Sporrán, Vol 1, No 1, 1st Sept 1916

At the end of February 1915 Ferguson was supervising 2/9th training on the Braid Hills when his horse slipped on the ice and he broke his leg.

Removed to Craighleith Hospital, did not return to duty until 14th June 15.

The Leather Sporrán, Vol 1, No 1, 1st Sept 1916

It was with feelings of sincere regret that we heard the news that Colonel James Ferguson, V.D. has died of pleurisy. It is a loss to all in the Battalion, that will be, I think, even more deeply felt in succeeding years, for the founder of the Battalion is gone and the Colonel of all three lines. His mind during the last days of his life dwelt largely on the Battalions, and the doings of all the lines gave him the keenest interest. I think the special memories that most of us will have of him will be either of a field day (for we knew if he commanded us we would be pretty sure to do well – his tactics were always of a high order), or before a route march, when we saw him dressed in his kilt ready and fit for the march as the strongest recruit in the ranks, and heard his invariable word of command 'Highlanders, attention: advance in column of route from the right. A Company leading.' He was the epitome of the enthusiastic and successful Territorial Colonel of the old school, and the Battalion have lost their keenest helper and their best friend.

FERGUSON, JAMES, J, Major, , 9th Bn., 30, 22/Jul/1916, France, SON OF JAMES AND GEORGINA A. FERGUSON, OF KINMUNDY, ABERDEENSHIRE.	CWGC
Ferguson, James, Junior, Maj 22.7.16 1886-1916 Father: Advocate Admitted to Faculty July 1913. Educ. Edinburgh Academy, Charterhouse, Edinburgh University  JAMES FERGUSON, JUN. Despite being the son of James Ferguson KC, no information was returned to the Faculty regarding Ferguson's death, no entry can be found in the Scots Law Times, and no trace can be found of him in the 1911 Census. What we know is that he was educated at Edinburgh Academy and Charterhouse, took his arts and law degrees at Edinburgh University between 1904 and 1913; and entered Faculty in July 1913. He was the son of James Ferguson of Kinmundy KC, and heir to the estate of Kinmundy. He was born at 41 Manor Place, Edinburgh in February 1886. With his father such a vigorous advocate for recruitment, it was perhaps inevitable that Ferguson would join the regiment his father helped to found, the 9th Royal Scots. In 1904 he was a Second Lieutenant; by September 1915 he had been promoted Major. Based at 89 East Claremont Street, the battalion landed at Le Havre in February 1915, and at the time of his death was fighting with the 81st Brigade in the 51st (Highland) Division.

Ferguson was mentioned in Despatches in January 1916, and in July 1916 his battalion were in trenches ready to attack High Wood as part of the Somme offensive. Ferguson was killed the day before the major offensive on 23rd July 1916. 9th Royal Scots had endured a lengthy tour of duty at Arras up to the beginning of July, and were then moved to Mametz Wood on the Somme. By the 21st of July they had taken over the front line in the vicinity of Bazentin-le-Grand wood, within sight of High Wood. The intended onslaught was due to be carried out by B Company, commanded by Major Ferguson. However, terrific machine gun fire met the Royal Scots as soon as they were free of their trenches, and all the officers were hit; only a handful of men returned from the fatal enterprise. He is commemorated on the Thiepval Memorial on the Somme, on the Charterhouse School Memorial, as well as the Faculty Memorial. http://www.advocates.org.uk/media/2172/warmemorialwordpdf3.pdf
Ferguson, James, Senior, Col 26.4.17 1857-1917 Father: Director of Great North of Scotland Railway Company Educ. Birkenhead, Craigmount, Edinburgh University. Admitted to faculty July 1879  Ferguson and his son, also James, are the only father and son commemorated on the Faculty war memorial. Ferguson Senior did not die on active service, and therefore is not mentioned in the Commonwealth War Graves Commission's records, although he is mentioned in the Edinburgh University Roll of the Fallen. He is the oldest Advocate on the war memorial. Born at Craigmount, Edinburgh in 1857, his father was William Ferguson of Kinmundy, Aberdeenshire, a director of the Great North of Scotland Railway Company. The Fergusons had bought Kinmundy in 1723; the Ferguson papers were removed from the house and deposited in the Aberdeen University archives as late as 1982. One of his forebears had served as a Major General at the Battle of Blenheim. Educated in Birkenhead, Liverpool, and at the conveniently located Craigmount School, Edinburgh, his further education was at Edinburgh University, from which he graduated in arts and law in 1875/1876, and was admitted to Faculty in 1879. He took silk in 1902 and with James Clark was the only King's Counsel on the memorial. He was appointed Sheriff of Argyll, then Inverness, and finally Forfarshire; he was assistant Advocate Depute in 1892 and Advocate Depute from 1896 to 1898. In 1885 he married Georgina Agnew; they had two sons, one of whom died while a pupil at the Edinburgh Academy, the other features next in this publication. Ferguson took a special interest in railway law, and published an edition of Deas on Railways that was a standard text in his time. Politically, he was a staunch Conservative, and in 1882 was appointed honorary secretary of the National Union

of Conservative Associations. He also wrote well known treatises on the Law of Roads, and the Law of Water in Scotland. He also had an interest in historical matters, perhaps inspired by his own interesting forebears, and edited a collection of papers regarding the Scots Brigade in the Netherlands. Like many of the men on the memorial, he was keen on territorial soldiering and in 1900, having served in his local volunteer battalion of the Gordon Highlanders ("The Buchan Rifles"), he helped to raise the 9th Royal Scots – at that time known as the Highlander's Battalion, The Queens Rifle Volunteer Brigade, Royal Scots. In time it became known as "The Dandy Ninth". He was their first Commanding Officer during the Boer War up to 1904; during the First World War as Colonel in command of the reserve battalion of 9th Royal Scots, he helped to swell the ranks of the reserves, and was responsible for sending to France some 2,000 officers and men. However his foreign service consisted of one week at the front in 1916; although under fire, he did not take part in any action. The Scotsman reported that he possessed a "somewhat stiff and frigid exterior" and that he had "some of the foibles supposed to be characteristic of the Aberdeenshire Laird" – whatever that might mean. However, behind the veil of his unprepossessing manner there lay concealed an abundance of talent and common sense, as well as "a singularly kind heart." Ferguson died at his home, 10 Wemyss Place, Edinburgh, in April 1917 of "malignant neoplasm of the lung." As his younger son had died while a schoolboy at the Edinburgh Academy, and his only surviving son (James Ferguson, Junior) had been killed in action in July of the previous year, this marked the last in a direct line of Fergusons of Kinmundy that stretched back to the 1650's. http://www.advocates.org.uk/media/2172/warmemorialwordpdf3.pdf

University of Edinburgh Roll of Honour (1921) -

Cadet William Percival Ferguson, from the Edinburgh University Contingent, Senior Division, Officers Training Corps To be 2/Lt 9 RS dated 9.7.15, LG 8.7.15 - Stewart Melville William Percival Ferguson, Capt RS was the second son of Thomas Ferguson JP, Croxteth Lodge, Murrayfield, Ex-Moderator of the High Constables of Edinburgh. He was a member of the golf and tennis clubs, in both of which, like his elder brother T.L. Ferguson, he played a good game. On leaving School he entered Edinburgh Savings Bank. At the outbreak of war he joined the Edinburgh University OTC and received a commission in the RS in July 1915. While in this country he was appointed to the responsible position of signalling officer. Transferred to another battalion of his regiment he was sent to France in July 1916, and was slightly wounded in the battle of the Somme. He was home on short leave in January of this year and on returning to the front was sent to a school of instruction with a view to further promotion. On 9th April of this year he fell in action in the fighting at Arras while leading his company. He was killed instantaneously by machine-gun fire, just at the wire of the German front trench. A fine attractive young man, he won golden opinions as a soldier: "a most promising young officer" "a very gallant officer, beloved by officers and men" – so he is described by two Colonels under whom he had served, and the junior officers speak just as highly of him. "A better lad never joined our battalion" is the verdict of his Major, "and he was a universal favourite and a fine soldier"; while another officer states that, "he was, without doubt, one of the best officers we had." He was twenty-one years of age, and was buried at the same time as his old schoolmate, Hamish Adams, in the British military cemetery at Roclincourt.   PERCY FERGUSON Percy Ferguson

DEFENCE MEDAL 1939-45, M.M. London Gazette 12 December 1917. Robert Wood Forsyth, a native of Eddlestone, Peebleshire, was born in 1893. He was subsequently decorated for his bravery at Passchendaele on 20 September 1917, when the 1/9th Battalion, Royal Scots launched a successful attack against the "Pheasant Farm" feature. Our supporting barrage having ceased at 5.40 a.m., two companies of the Battalion advanced against the enemy's concreted defences and 'with fine dash rushed the fortifications before the Germans had time to make their fire effective' - but not in fact before one company had come under 'ravaging machine-gun fire'. The regimental history also refers to the gallant support work of the remaining two companies who followed up the attack, one party killing 15 of the enemy in a brisk exchange near "Flora Cot". Forsyth, who was discharged as a Corporal at Ripon in June 1919, was only entitled to the British War & Victory Medals, not having gone to France before 1916 (his MIC refers). Including the recipient's Divisional "Gallantry on Active Service" card, for deeds 'displayed by him on 20 September 1917', signed by the Major-General Commanding, a wartime newspaper cutting listing the announcement of the award of his M.M., and two letters from the Infantry Record Office, Hamilton, regarding the forwarding of his decoration, dated in June 1919; his Protection and Identity Certificate, dated at North Camp, Ripon 18 June 1919; a wartime portrait photograph, and Defence Medal communication from the City Chamberlain's Office, Edinburgh, dated 1 May 1946 Address June 1919: 20 Station Rd, Eddleston, Peebleshire. Fraser, John, Pte Enlisted 9 th RS, transferred King's Own Scottish Borderers 1918, April II.—On this Thursday fighting was general along the whole battle-front. The British were forced back beyond Ploegsteert and Steenwercke to the south of Neuve Eglise and Bailleul. At Hollebeeke and Messines the German attacks were repulsed. The enemy captured Merville. Strong local attacks were repulsed south of Arras. This was the third day of the battle of the Lys, which began on April 9. Private John FRASER was a native of West Linton, where he was employed with Mr David Paterson, grocer, Main Street there. He enlisted in Edinburgh during 1916, into the 9th (Highland) Battalion Royal Scots, but on being sent to France he was transferred to the 1st Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers. He was repeatedly in action, but was never wounded. He was lying with his Battalion in front of Ypres during the great British retreat of March 1918, and went missing on 11th April of that year. This young lad was much respected and esteemed in and about West Linton. He was a member of the Parish Church and a Guildsman.	-

Norwich, Private House Agent for Bullard & Sons, Ltd., Brewers, by his wife, Annie ; b. Lakenham, Norwch, 20 Nov. 1884; educ. Norwich, and had been in business in Manchester, holding a very good position with Vincent Smethurst there. After the outbreak of war he joined the Royal Scots with his great friend Charles Newsham (who was afterwards killed by the same shell as himself). 10 Nov. 1914, and after training at Edinburgh and Kilmarnock, left for the Front towards the end of Feb.; he lost his life during the bombardment of Ypres, three shells dropping into the billets of his	-

company and killing him and six of his comrades as they lay sleeping. 7 April, 1915. He was buried on the ramparts of Ypres close to the Porte de Lille; Lieut.-Col. R.S. [A.S.] Blair, commanding 9th Royal Scots, wrote: "He died a soldier's death, and we are grateful and proud of his courage and devotion to duty and his Corps." Private Frost was a member of the Cheadle Golf Club, and was well known in the amateur rowing world of the North, being for two or three years captain of the Didsbury Rowing Club, the junior four of which he stroked to victory at the Northwich, Agecroft and Lancaster regattas in 1912. He was also on the committee of the Norwich Swan and Dolphin Swimming Clubs and winner of many swimming trophies; his two younger brothers are in a Canadian regt.

Gammie, H. Forsyth, The youngest son of the late W. F. Gammie, architect, Edin., was born in 1884, and attended G.W.C. 1898-1900. Prior to the war he was an architect in H.M. Office of Works, Edin. He enlisted in the 2/9th R.S. in 1914, and shortly rose to be C.Q.M.S. Early in 1917 he was gazetted to the 3rd Cameron Hrs., and, sailing to India in May, joined the forces in Mesopotamia. He gained his Lieutenancy, and, while temporarily attached to the 17th N. Staffordshire Regt., fell in the heroic fight against overwhelming odds at the evacuation of Baku.	GWC

He served in the 9th Battalion Royal Scots (The Dandy Ninth) as a Piper before joining Edinburgh City Police and playing in the Police Pipe Band which won the Harry Lauder Shield at Cowal Games in 1912 and 1913. During World War 1 he re-enlisted in the Army and served with the Scots Guards before being taken prisoner. He was freed at the end of the War and was a member of the World Championship winning Band at Cowal Games in 1919. Pipe Major Gates was to introduce the Band to a much wider audience by competing as far afield as the Isle of Man and recording a radio broadcast for the BBC in 1937, which received great acclaim from listeners around the world. He remained in charge until midway through the Second World War, when he retired	-

Left Univ of Edin Roll, those to right University of Edinburgh Roll of Honour (1921) Last letters at: http://www.scotlandswar.ed.ac.uk/Midlothian/Communication-Letters-and-Cards/Robert-Finlay-Gerrard Also: 'The Summer 1917 issue of The Watsonian reported that "Major Gerrard was about the last of that band of brilliant young graduates that joined the College staff a year or two before war broke out. "Of a military family, he had the soldiering instinct in his blood; and at what now appears an impossibly early age, he joined the 'Dandy Ninth', and rapidly attained non-commissioned rank. "Stobs, 1902 - his first military experience - was a common phrase in his conversation, and the subject for that swift and brilliant sally that was so typical of him. "He did exceedingly well at school and University, and after capturing many medals and prizes, finished with a "First" in English. He joined the staff of the College as an English master, was at first junior officer in the OTC, and in 1914 became OC with the rank of Captain. His work with the corps, his electrifying energy, his broad and accurate knowledge, and his severe but not overmastering sense of discipline, will show its effects for many a year. "He transferred to the Royal Scots in June 1915, did excellent work as an instructor, and next year went to France, where he was attached to the Gloucester Regiment a fighting regiment in a fighting division, as he was proud to call it. His great talent could not remain hidden, he was promoted Major, and, in a brilliant affair, led his battalion against the redoubtable Prussian Guard, driving them from a village whose name is now a household word. "A fine career was opening before him, when he and all the Headquarters' Staff, to which he had become attached, were destroyed by a German mine." - Capt Robert Finlay Gerrard, from George Watson's Boys' College Contingent, Junior Division, Officers Training Corps, to be Capt (temp), 4 RS dated 9.7.15, LG 8.7.15
Gerrard, Robert Finlay, Was a member of the English Staff of G.W.C., which he joined in 1913. He came fresh from the Univ., with 1st Class Hons. in his subject, and soon proved himself an able teacher and an agreeable colleague. He had been a N.C.O. in the 9th R.S. for several years, and, taking a commission in the O.T.C., rose to command the Corps 1914-15, with the rank of Capt. Transferring to the 3/4th R.S., he did excellent instructional work, and went to France in 1916, where he was attached to the Gloucester Regt. with the rank of Major. He was Mentioned in Despatches the following year, and was wounded and ordered home. He decided to stay on, and, with the Hqrs. Staff of the Gloucesters, was destroyed by	GWC

Gorrie, Alexander Keith, A son of the late G. H. Gorrie, Dalkeith, was a very prominent Watsonian cricketer. Born in 1884, he entered G.W.C. 1894, and was in the Watsonian XI. from 1903-12, acting as Secy. for two seasons with great success. He was also prominently associated with the Watsonian Curling Club, of which he was at one time Secy. and Treasurer. A lawyer by profession, he held a post in Messrs. Dundas and Wilson, W.S. Like so many of his clubmates, he enlisted in the 9th R.S. in Sept. 1914, and served in France. Given a commission in the 11th H.L.I., he returned to the Front, and fell during a fierce bombardment.  https://www.gwc.org.uk/default/cache/file/812B75C5153036A6492B8BE6F119A888.jpg	GWC

Gowans, David R, Pte, 9th Bn., Royal Scots, died on Saturday, 6th April 1918. [This entry confused 24 March Gowans 376195; 6 April Gowans 330552] Age 33. Son of Mrs Gowans, of Auchendinny, Milton Bridge, Midlothian. "We regret to announce that Sergeant David Gowans of the Royal Scots, youngest son of William Gowans, Learmonth Crescent, was killed in action on the 24th March. Sergeant Gowans was a grocer with Rae & Co before the outbreak of war and was well known in the village. He was in the sector where the Germans launched their big offensive and died for his country gallantly striving to stem the German rush. Mrs Gowans has two other sons serving, Peter who joined the Canadian Contingent in the early days of the war, and has taken part in much of the heavy fighting; and John, who joined the Flying Corps in Vancouver. Her eldest son is very seriously ill at present in the West of Scotland, and Mrs Gowans was away helping to nurse him when the sad news of David's death arrived." Midlothian Advertiser , May 3rd, 1918 Fanning, James, 'Far From the Front', 2013 http://www.scotlandswar.ed.ac.uk/sites/default/files/pdf_West_Calder.pdf	-

Parents: Colin and Frances Collie Edward Grant Died: Died of wounds 20.5.15 in Hospital, London (wounded 24.4.15 Ypres age 19) Buried: Dornoch East Cemetery Sec 8 15 ‘Yet another toll in the terrible war has been patriotically rendered by the parish of Dornoch. Lance-Corporal Donald Grant, a young and very favourably spoken of native of the parish, who previous to the war was employed in the grocery business of Mr Weir, Dornoch, enlisted in the 9th Royal Scots, was severely wounded near Ypres on April 24 and after a period of suffering, died last week in a London hospital. The funeral took place at Dornoch on Friday, 21st inst. The remains arrived by mail train, a brother of the deceased, Colin Grant, of the 1st Canadian Contingent, travelling by the same train, and a large gathering, representing all classes of the districts of the parish, met at the railway station to pay the last honours to the brave young soldier. Along the route to the burying ground, groups of old and young viewed the sad procession with evident sorrow and sympathy. At the grave the Union Jack was placed on the coffin and the usual tribute of firing a volley was accorded.’ Northern Times 27 May 1915, reproduced 29 May 2015 ‘100 Years Ago’ Memorials: Dornoch War Memorial; Congregation Roll of Honour, Dornoch Cathedral; Congregation Memorial Window, Dornoch Cathedral Dornoch ROH

Smith-Grant, John

John Gordon Smith Cheetham Smith-Grant

b. 19.3.1893 at Glenlivet d. 30.5.18 France

Heir to the Glenlivet Distillery and son of Colonel and Mrs. G. Smith Grant, of Minmore, Glenlivet, Banffshire, Smith-Grant served with the kilted 9th Royal Scots in the trenches of France before joining the Royal Flying Corps in August 1916. Posted to 70 Squadron in 1917, he claimed 2 victories and became a Flight Commander before being reassigned to 28 Squadron in Italy toward the end of the year. After downing three more enemy aircraft, he rejoined 70 Squadron in France and scored his final victory on 23 May 1918. Six days later, Smith-Grant was wounded in action and taken to a Canadian field hospital where he was killed by a bomb blast during an air raid by German aircraft.

Died from wounds. He resided at Willowbank, Dalkeith. Dated 4th May 1915 - Gray, Edward Curtis Murray, Pte Intimation received from Hamilton by Mr and Mrs EG Gray, Willowbank, Dalkeith, that their youngest son Pte Edward Curtis Murray Gray (2310) died in an ambulance at 1 a.m. on 24th Apr while being removed to hospital wounded by a bullet recived while D Coy were engaged on a bayonet charge. Six weeks ago he had a trying experience when a shell burst on the convent in which they were billeted, causing about 50 casualties, including 9 deaths. A piece of shell cut his tunic and scratched his elbow, but he was able to resume duty almost immediately. 19yo. Had chosen the medical profession and had entered for the summer classes at Edin Univ previous to enlisting. Previously a pupil in the Junior Student Centre of Broughton School, Edinburgh. The Scotsman 4 May 15 - Gray, Edward Curtis Murray, Pte 2310 b. Dalkeith 28/6/1896 d. 23/4/15 age 19, Son of Edward and Jessie Gray (nee Thorburn), Brother of George Gray kia 20/8/1918. Curtis Gray was about to start medical studies at Edinburgh University when war was declared. Memorials: Dalkeith; Dalkeith Congregational Church; Dalkeith High School; Dalkeith New Cemetery. [Dalkeith Advertiser 6 May 1915]: Mr and Mrs E G Gray, Willowbank, Dalkeith, received the melancholy intimation on Monday morning that their youngest son, Private Edward Curtis Murray Gray (No 2310), 1/9 Battalion Highlanders, Royal Scots, had succumbed to the bullet wound he had received in the lower part of the body whilst his company had been engaged in a bayonet charge near Ypres. Death supervened at 1 am on the 24th of April while he was being removed in an ambulance to the base hospital. Once more have the ravages of this cruel and terrible war claimed a young life full of promise, just as the boyhood was giving way to a manhood of the highest type. When the war broke out, Curtis Gray, as he was familiarly and lovingly known in Dalkeith, instantly recognised where his duty lay and he cheerfully sacrificed everything that made life dear to him and manfully came forward, ready and willing - as he has done - to lay his life on the altar of his country. Whilst in military training, he developed into a splendid type of soldier, and up to the time when he received the fatal messenger of death, his health was well-nigh perfect. During all the months he was in France, he corresponded faithfully and regularly with his loved ones at home, and in none of his letters was the note of complaint - they were characterised by an optimism and sincerity that did much to

relieve the anxiety that must necessarily fill so many hearts today. Six weeks ago he had a trying experience when the convent in which he was billeted was shelled. Although the shock he must have experienced then and the sights he had to face were enough to unnerve the bravest, yet his one thought was for others, and at that particular time he was tireless in his efforts to help those who had not been so fortunate as himself. As it was he was struck on the elbow by a piece of shell. Prior to enlisting, the deceased was on the eve of entering the medical curriculum at Edinburgh University, where, endowed as he was with mental ability above the average, he would unquestionably have taken an honourable place. But, alas! like many another noble soul, he has given all in defence of King and country, and his memory will henceforth be enshrined everlastingly on the hearts of those who knew his startling worth. To the parents and family of the departed young soldier, in their time of poignant sorrow, the sympathy of the community goes out in full measure. By the death of Private Gray, the Dalkeith High School Roll of Honour has been broken for the first time. WW1_Casualties_by_Regiment_Letter_R.pdf www.midlothian.gov.uk/ - Gray, Curtis Murray [note not ECMG] Willowbank, Dalkeith, shell explosion cut his tunic and scratched his elbow, a 'narrow escape' The Scotsman 15 Apr 1915 - Mr and Mrs Gray, Willowbank, Dalkeith, informed yesterday that Pte Curtis Murray Gray shot during a bayonet charge on April 24 and died during his removal in the ambulance. 19yo, former pupil Broughton Higher Grade School, Edin and studying with a view to entering the medical profession. Grenville, Eddie The battalion was relieved on 10 January 1916 and moved back to the billeting village of Suzanne. Between 12.30 and 2.15 pm on 11 January the Germans shelled Suzanne intensively. Private Willie Caldwell was killed by flying shrapnel. Eddie Grenville was severely wounded and died within an hour. The battalion moved back to Chipilly (a march of about eight miles) that afternoon and carried him back with them. Both were members of the battalion's Transport Section. Chipilly was the site of a Field Ambulance Station. See also Caldwell, William Great War Forum - 'One lad's leg was nearly severed at the knee. He died later.' Hamilton, I.S.M. Sir Major-General Sir Ian Standish Monteith Hamilton, K.C.B., D.S.O (b. 16th January 1853, d. 12th October 1947) Honorary Colonel of 9th Royal Scots, 31st August 1901. Commissioned 1872. Service in Afghan war (1878-80), Boer War (1881), Nile Expedition (1884-85), Burmese Expedition (1886-87), Chitral Relief Force (1895), Tirah Expeditionary Force (1897-98). November 1901 to South Africa as Chief of the Staff in Natal and in command of Mounted Infantry Division. Military Secretary at the War Office 1904. 'In 1914 the German High Command had regarded him as the most experienced soldier alive in the world.' (p.880, Cecil, Hugh and Liddle, Peter H (editors), 'Facing Armageddon', Pen & Sword, 2003) Commander Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, Gallipoli (1915). This ended his military career. However he remained an active man and was particularly critical of the harsh peace imposed upon the Central Powers, contrasting it to the more generous, and successful peace he had seen delivered in South Africa. He played an important part in the establishment of the British Legion.	-

employed by Messrs Moncrieff & Horsburgh, C.A.. Prior to the war he was commissioned as a Lieutenant in 9th Royal Scots, serving between 1902 and 1906. At the outbreak of the Great War he was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Black Watch on 16/09/1914 and then promoted to Lieutenant on 14/12/1914, entering France as a theatre of war on 08/07/1915. He was killed in action at the Battle of Loos on 27/09/1915, aged 31, and is buried in Dud Corner Cemetery, Loos, Pas-de-Calais, France, Grave I.G.8. He was awarded the 1914-1915 Star, British War Medal & Victory Medal and was mentioned in De Ruvigny's Roll Of Honour 1914-1918, the University of Edinburgh Roll of Honour 1914-1919 and a biographical note in The Scotsman, 05/10/1915. Henderson-Hamilton, James Campbell Lt 1884 - 27.9.15 with 9th Black Watch Admitted to Faculty July 1907 Father: Minister (Episcopal Church) Educ.: Trinity College, Glenalmond, Edinburgh University, Glasgow University  J. C. HENDERSON-HAMILTON.  More Advocates were killed at Loos than at any other engagement in the war; Henderson-Hamilton was in the thick of this terrible battle, the Great War's equivalent of Flodden. A son of the Manse, he was born in Edinburgh, but his father was Episcopal Minister of St Mary's, Hamilton, and his childhood and early life were spent at Dalserf, Lanarkshire. His family had been landowners in Dalserf since at least 1292. Henderson-Hamilton's diary of 1904 is still in possession of his grandson and describes in great detail the busy life of an Edwardian youth. He was educated at Trinity College, Glenalmond, where he excelled at cricket and shooting, and was cadet Sergeant in the Cadet Corps, his studies thereafter were at Glasgow and Edinburgh Universities; he graduated LLB in 1906. He served his bar apprenticeship with Strathern & Blair WS, now Anderson Strathern LLP. He was admitted to the Faculty in 1907. The 1911 Census lists Henderson-Hamilton living in a boarding house at 18 South Castle Street, Edinburgh, which he shared with a retired maltster and a linotype keyboard operator. At that time, his great friend was the Scottish colourist, Francis Cadell, and Henderson-Hamilton often sat for his portrait.

Known at Parliament House as Jim Hamilton, he was a popular lawyer, known for his vivacity and gentleness. Despite his “nimble wit” and “ready speech” he decided to switch careers – the Scots Law Times thinks he would have succeeded but for a lack of acquaintances and backing in the profession. He therefore sought to qualify as a Chartered Accountant, and by 1914 he was in the offices of Moncrieff & Horsburgh preparing to take his final exams.

A pre-war territorial, he had been a Lieutenant in the 7th Royal Scots, a battalion with its base in Leith. In September 1914 he was called to the colours in the 9th Black Watch, formally known as the Royal Highlanders; the battalion was based in Perth. He landed in France with his battalion in July 1915, a month when large quantities of Scottish territorial troops landed on the continent for the first time. Just a month before landing in France, he was granted leave to marry Helen Rose Margaret Remington in London after a whirlwind romance. They married on 19th June; in less than three weeks he would be dead. Her only consolation was that she was carrying his child.

While in France, he received tragic news from Dalserf; his elder brother Charles had been killed on 21st August with the Cameronians in Gallipoli. His sister-in-law had died of pneumonia a few days before.

Henderson-Hamilton’s regiment fought with the 44th Brigade in the 15th (Scottish) Division and on the morning of 25th September 1915, after gas canisters had been opened – not with any great success – they advanced towards Loos village under withering fire. This was the first time his battalion had been involved in any fighting. The 15th Division had great success initially, taking Loos village before the Germans had properly erected barriers in the streets, and then advancing to Hill 70 which was taken after a fierce fight.

However, on the day Henderson-Hamilton was listed as killed, 27th September, the initial gains of the 25th would have seemed like a distant memory. Hill 70, captured at such great cost, was now back in enemy hands. After surviving the first two days of the battle, Hamilton was “killed just in front of the German trenches, while leading his men in the attack.” On that same day, a fellow Black Watch officer lost his life – Fergus Bowes-Lyon, brother of the future Queen Elizabeth, and on another part of the battlefield, John Kipling of the Irish Guards. It does seem more likely, reading these accounts, that Hamilton was actually killed on the 25th; by 0900 on that date the various Highland battalions, all mixed up, and largely bereft of officers who had mainly all been killed or wounded by this stage, had overrun Hill 70 and advanced as far as houses at the “Dynamitiere”; in the words of the official history of the 15th Division, the few survivors “remained exposed to heavy gunfire, machine gun, and artillery fire until all were either killed or wounded. Very few came back to tell the story.”

The Scots Law Times recalls he was a well-known shot on the moors, and a keen tennis player. His “boyish light heartedness” and “charming youthfulness” were remembered fondly.

Henderson-Hamilton’s grave can be found in Dud Corner Cemetery, Loos. He rests with 33 fellow Black Watch soldiers including his commanding officer, killed on the same day as he was. Of the 2,000 burials in his cemetery, half are unidentified; and within the cemetery is the Loos Memorial to the 20,000 or so who have no known grave.

Henderson-Hamilton’s parents were devastated by the death of both of their children, and by their daughter-in-law, all within a few short weeks. His mother died in 1917, and family lore blames a broken heart, although the Hamilton

Advertiser refers to an acute attack of pneumonia “which carried her off in three days.” His father lived long enough to dedicate stained glass windows in St Mary’s, Hamilton, before dying in 1921. The windows are supposed to depict Rachel and her sons, but clearly depict Mrs Henderson-Hamilton and her two sons – there is an almost photographic likeness. The only positive note in this family tragedy is that Henderson-Hamilton’s son, James Leslie Campbell, was born on 23 March 1916. The son was brought up in South Kensington by his mother and English grandmother, with a small allowance from the Dalserf estate, and a noble name, reminding the infant of his Scottish roots. http://www.advocates.org.uk/media/2172/warmemorialwordpdf3.pdf Stained glass windows 26.1.1884 - 27.9.1915 http://warmemscot.s4.bizhat.com/warmemscot-post-8134.html - It was originally thought that Cadell painted this elegant portrait of Nan Ivory as a wedding gift for the sitter’s new husband, the artist’s close friend and long-standing patron, Ted Stewart. However, since the appearance of the piece in the most recent issue of our magazine International View, new information has come to light. It has been revealed that before she married Ted Stewart in February 1916, Nan had been briefly engaged to another close friend of Cadell’s, James Hamilton-Henderson in 1914. Ref Portrait of Nan Ivory https://www.lyonandturnbull.com/news-article/elegance-style-portraits-cadell-curister - One of those friends was the young Francis C. B. Cadell, for whom James sat many times for his portrait. Cadell was later to become famous as one of the Scottish Colourists. James and Bunty, as Cadell was known, were clearly great friends. James dined often with Bunty’s family at their house in Edinburgh, and Bunty was a frequent visitor to Dalserf. James himself enjoyed sketching local landscapes, no doubt encouraged by his friendship with the artist... Dalserf House must have been a happy place towards the end of the Victorian era. Newly married, Mary had given birth to two strong boys, Charles Campbell Henderson-Hamilton, in 1882, and James Campbell Henderson-Hamilton, in 1884. http://www.dalserf.org/index.php/the-lairds-of-dalserf

Fred Hislop was an unfortunate man, he died of TB a week or so after discharge having only completed a few weeks of training. The newspapers mention a severe operation – I suspect this may have been removal of part of a lung. He was evidently a popular singer.

Hume, Robert, Private (Innerleithen) Wednesday, 3 May 1916. The sad news of another St Ronan's lad being killed in France reached Innerleithen, a letter being received by Mrs Hume, Cauldhame, intimating that her son, Robert, had been killed by a bullet. The deceased lad was a private in the 9th Royal Scots (Dandy Ninth), he having enlisted in the month of September previously. He afterwards went to Selkirk, and from there was drafted to France, and had only been on active service two months. Prior to enlistment, deceased was employed as vanman with Mr J. Forsyth, and for		-

some time was a member of St Ronan's Silver Band. He was eighteen years of age. He had an elder brother serving in France, in the Black Watch, and his father was in the 2 /8th Royal Scots, at present stationed at Chelmsford. The following is the letter received by Mrs Hume : —

"It is with the deepest regret that I have to convey to you very bad news about your son in the 9th Royal Scots. He was struck last night by a bullet, and in spite of all we could do for him, he passed away within an hour. The bullet had got right into his side, and he lost consciousness almost at once and never regained it, so you may be sure he suffered little or no pain before the end. His loss is deeply regretted both by me, his platoon officer, and by his comrades in No. 3 platoon. He was always a willing and conscientious worker, whatever his task might be, and always a cheery companion among the men. I can realise what a blow the news will be to you and all his family, and you have our deepest and sincerest sympathy in your sorrow. He was buried in a little village just behind the firing line, where many a Scotsman lies who has fallen, like him, in his country's cause, and our chaplain conducted the service.

His elder brother John was fated to fall on July 22 of the same year (1916). He was in the Black Watch.

PRIVATE ROBERT HUME, INNERLEITHEN.

Hutton, George Lt 9RS George Hutton, a 38-year old butcher and spice merchant, left a successful family business in Glasgow's Gallowgate when he was drafted. The Battle of Arras was his first serious action and on the very first day he suffered a grave injury, taking a bullet through his right upper chest. Repatriated he made a good recovery. The horrors of that day were never spoken about, according to his grandson Alasdair Hutton OBE (TD). WELL-KNOWN RUGBY PLAYER KILLED

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, with military honours, from his house at 5 Harrison Road to Warriston Cemetery, of Lance Corp. F A Hyslop, 1/9th Royal Scots who as already reported died at Lakenham Military Hospital,

Norwich, the 11th instant. The funeral party consisted of 50 members with the pipe band of the 9th Royal Scots who came from Peebles for the purpose. The Officers present were Captain Lucas, Captain Bathgate and 2nd Lieutenant Honeyman. The firing party was supplied by the 9th Highland Light Infantry. The coffin was draped with the union jack and at the rear of the funeral procession was a cab full of floral tributes to the deceased officer. A large number of the general public showed their interest and paid their tributes as the funeral party approached the cemetery. http://www.scotlandswar.ed.ac.uk/sites/default/files/pdf_Duddingston_Golf_War_Memorial.pdf

INGLIS PRIVATE, 352204, 9/Apr/1917, DIED OF WOUNDS, FRANCE AND FLANDERS	SW
Inglis, Alexander, Lt. (Stobo) 8/10th Gordon Highlanders. 1917. APRIL 11. Killed in action on Wednesday, April 11, Alexander Inglis, lieutenant, Gordon Highlanders, aged 26, only son of the late Alexander Inglis and Mrs Inglis, 2 Rillbank Terrace, Edinburgh. He was educated at the Royal High School, Edinburgh, and was a private in the 9th Royal Scots when war broke out. He obtained his commission in the Gordons in the autumn of 1914. He was employed with Messrs Thomas Nelson & Sons, publishers, Parkside Works, Edinburgh. Lieutenant Inglis was a grandson of the late Mr Alex. Inglis, who for 47 years was gamekeeper to Sir G. Graham Montgomery, Bart., Stobo Castle. His maternal grandfather was the late Mr Adam Brown, farmer, Drochil Castle. He went to France in July, 1915, and was through the battle of Loos and Hill 70 in September, 1915, being in the 41th Brigade of the 15th Scottish Division. He was bombing officer first for his battalion, then for the brigade, and latterly was acting Captain at the Divisional Bombing School, but was in command of the bombers of his brigade when he was killed. As in days of old, Lieut. Inglis and his Captain, Nelson, fell in the same battle of Arras, both in the same firm of Nelsons.	-

Information from John Johnston:

Benjamin (Bennie) Bichan Irvine, son of William Bichan Irvine and Euphemia Gray Cundill McIntosh, was born 26 October 1893 at 34 Caledonian Crescent, Edinburgh, and was working as a Scientific Instrument Maker in the photographic department of A. H. Baird, 39 Lothian Street, Edinburgh when he enlisted in the 9th Royal Scots (Highlanders) Territorial Force on 14 September 1914. This battalion was known as "The Dandy Ninths". After training in Scotland he left for active service in France on 23 February 1915. Bennie progressed through the ranks to become a Sergeant. He received a gunshot wound in the head on 27 May 1917 (latter stages of the battle of Arras) resulting in damage to his right eye and after he spent a few days in the Liverpool Merchant's Mobile Hospital at Etaples, was posted to the 835 Area Employment Company of the Labour Corps, based at Dannes, about 10 kilometers north of Etaples. This was a large ammunition depôt. Bennie was promoted Company Quarter Master Sergeant, later Colour Sergeant, and remained there until 3 February 1919 when he returned to the United Kingdom to be discharged on 6 March 1919 having served a total of 4 years and 174 days.

Ben married Margaret (Meg) Hutcheon Munro, daughter of David Hutcheon Munro and Johanna Grace Mouat of 17 Willowbrae Road, Edinburgh, on 16 September 1927, at the Church of Scotland Manse in Duddingston, Edinburgh. At that time Ben was a photographic dealer and Margaret was a photographer. Margaret's father, deceased at the time of the marriage in 1927, had been a photographer also, and it is possible that Ben and his wife carried on his business. The 1943-44 Edinburgh PO Directory has "B. Irvine, optical and photographic dealer, 12 St. Peter's Buildings; telephone FOU (Fountainbridge) 3347, house, 25 Craiglockhart Park" and these details were the same in 1959-1960.

Ben was living at 25 Craiglockhart Park, Edinburgh in August 1949 when he registered the death of his mother, and later in 1961 when he registered the death of his brother William. Ben died on 16 January 1968 at 1 Glenlockhart Road, Edinburgh, a rest home/hospital. His occupation was given on his death certificate as "X-ray Assistant (Retired)".

Ben and Meg Irvine had one daughter, married with family, no other details known. 1-Benjamin (Ben) Bichen Irvine b. 26 Oct 1893, 34 Caledonian Crescent, Edinburgh , d. 16 Jan 1968, 1 Glenlockhart Road, Edinburgh +Margaret (Meg) Hutcheon Munro b. 17 Dec 1899, 24 Heriot Place, Edinburgh , m. 16 Sep 1927, Manse, Duddingston, Edinburgh, d. 5 Oct 1993, Fairfield Manor, Fairfield Road, Broadstairs, Thanet, Kent, par. Lt, listed West Lothian Courier for 10 th Reserve Bn RS, presently billeted at Bathgate, 30 th October 1914 West Lothian Courier 1 st JUNE 1917 CAPTAIN JOHN THOMAS JOHNSTON Last night official word was received that Captain John Thomas Johnston, of Pottishaw, who resides in Marchwood, Bathgate, has been killed in action on Sabbath 27 th May. Deceased, who was in the 26 th year of his age, joined the Volunteer Force some seven years ago, as a Lieutenant in the Fauldhouse Company. He was until a little over a month ago, acting on duty on the East Coast with the rank of Captain. He was drafted on active duty to France about five weeks ago. The deceased was the only son of the late Mr Johnston, formerly of the Bathgate National Bank, and his mother, Mrs Johnston, who survives him. Like his father, he leaves a widow and one child, for whom, as also his mother, deep sympathy is felt. The following letter has been received by Mrs Johnston, Marchwood.	-

France 28th May 1917 Dear Mrs Johnston It is with deep sorrow that I write particulars of John's death. He was killed yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, by shell fire, and death must have been instantaneous. He was buried this morning at 0 o'clock. At the time of death he was with his Company in the front line, and was in the Company Headquarters when the shell landed on the top and hit him in many places on the chest. The news of his death came as a great shock to me, as the night previous he had relieved my Company in the line, and I remained with him till 1.30 the same morning. Will you please accept my sincere sympathy in your great loss, and convey the same to his and your own relatives. In him I have lost a great friend. If there are any further particulars, which you would like to know, I will do my utmost to endeavour to obtain them if you will let me know. Yours sincerely Harry Waklin 3-6-17 West Lothian Courier 1st JUNE 1917 [dates seem out of order][see also Wakelin, Harry] West Lothian Courier, courtesy Alf McM, using Calder, Jackie, 'The Royal Scots 1860-1916', by permission. b. 1st May 1895 at Glencorse Barracks

A 'son of the regiment', his father was a sergeant in the Pay Corps and served in Egypt in the war, Bobby Johnston joined the Ninth whilst still at school as a drummer boy in March 1910. In 1914 he left his job as a clerk in the War Office in London and enlisted as a Private in the Ninth. He served on the Western Front, and was promoted Sergeant, but went with 1st Battalion Royal Scots (27th Division) to Salonika in November 1915. In November 1916, after briefly being in Egypt, he returned to Britain to No 9 Officer Cadet Battalion in Gables, Ayrshire. In April 1917, still just 21, he was back on the Western Front as an officer with 16th Battalion Royal Scots (34th Division). On the first day of the German spring offensive in 1918 he was wounded near Arras.

As an interwar officer in 4th Gordons TA he was gazetted Captain in 1924 and Major in 1933.

In the Second World War he commanded 8th Gordons, which converted to the 100th Anti-Tank Regiment (Gordon Highlanders), Royal Artillery.

Retired 1947, granted honorary rank of Lt-Col.

THERE was killed in action, in France, on the 23rd April 1917, Sergeant JOHN JOHNSTONE, Royal Scots, only son of the late R. W. Johnstone, gardener, Springwood, Peebles, and Mrs Johnstone, 57 Rosetta Road, Peebles. He was only in his 22nd year. The news of her loss came to Mrs Johnstone through a letter, in which the writer said—"I am really very sorry to let you know that Johnnie was killed on the morning of the 23rd April." Sergeant Johnstone was a salesman with Messrs Anderson, military tailors, Edinburgh, when he enlisted in the 9th Royal Scots, in November 1915, in Edinburgh. Before going to France in March 1917 he had attained the rank of Sergeant. He was a young man of superior disposition, widely known, and much liked.

Kay, George Frederick, The second son of the late J. Kay, wine merchant, was born in Edin. in 1885. Educated at G.W.C. 1890-1902, he afterwards trained as an architectural draughtsman. Joining the 9th R.S. in Sept. 1914 as a Pte., he served in France for two years with his Bn., taking part in the 2nd battle of Ypres. Invalided home in Aug. 1917 with a badly strained heart, he received on recovery a commission in the 7th Border Regt. early in 1918, and again was sent to France. He was wounded in Mar. 1918, and invalided home for the second time. After a further period of service in France from Jan. to Aug. 1919, as O.C. Prisoners of War Coy., he was demobilised in Aug. 1919, with the rank of Lt. He died from illness incurred through war service, Sept. 16, 1919.  https://www.gwc.org.uk/default/cache/file/9863627A1723143713960CD2647B9972.jpg	GWC

Kay, John T 4137	EB2
Kay, John T., L/Cpl 351475 9 th RS 4137 Pte - John T. Kay R Scots Pte 4137, 351475 BWM&VM MIC - He was stated to have been the son of an Edinburgh wine merchant, Mr J Kay. The Edinburgh and Leith Post Office Directory for 1914 showed that James Kay, a wine merchant, lived at 10 Granton Road – an address that was then within the Parish of Granton. The Roll of Honour indicates that he was the third son of James Kay and was born in Edinburgh in 1885. He attended the Edinburgh Institution from 1892 to 1894 and then went on to George Watson's College. After leaving school he started on a commercial career and became the Scottish agent for Messrs C & T Harris of Calne, Wiltshire – a firm then famous for its pork pies, hams and sausages. At the time of the outbreak of the First World War he was based in York. He enlisted there but joined the 9th Battalion, Royal Scots – Edinburgh's kilted Territorial Battalion which was often referred to as the 'Dandy 9th'. In 1916 he was promoted to Lance Corporal. He was killed in action on 9th April 1917 during fighting at Vimy Ridge. He is buried at Nine Elms Military Cemetery, Thelus. He is also commemorated on the War Memorial of Inverleith Church and in the Watsonian War Record. Granton History	0640 -

Kerr, David, The son of Mrs. Kerr, Edin., was born in 1893, and attended G.W.C. 1903-10. He was a keen lover of sport, and his winning disposition made him a great favourite at Myreside. He was in the employment of Messrs. J. and J. Cunningham, Leith. After drilling in the Watsonian Training Corps, he enlisted in the 9th R.S., and was wounded at Ypres, Apr. 1915. Gazetted to the 7th R.S.F. in Sept., he returned to France in Mar. 1916, and was awarded the M.C. He was killed by a sniper at Martinpuich, Aug. 13, 1916, while trying to succour the wounded lying outside the trenches.	GWC

Kerr, Gilbert Mitchell b.1870 Glencorse d.1919 Edinburgh, Pipe Major 9th Vn Bn RS from ?1902 [“?” in original, as Pipe Major follows from Kerr, Duncan Alexander James] From Aad Boode, author of book on military Pipe Majors - Gilbert Mitchell Kerr, was born in Glencorse in 1870 the son of Duncan and Jessie Kerr (nee Cunningham) and died in 1919 (apparently from the Spanish flu). Brother of Duncan Alexander James Kerr (qv). Gilbert is recorded as having served as a Piper in the 4th Royal Scots (Queens Edinburgh Rifles) and possibly also having served as Pipe-Major of either the 4th or the 9th Royal Scots at one stage (in 1902).		?

The younger brother Gilbert is actually the better known of the two. I don't know if you've ever seen the photo of the piper playing to a penguin in Antarctica....well that was Gilbert. He took part in a number of Arctic and Antarctic expeditions including with Capt. Robert Scott.

This picture on Wikipedia from Royal Scottish Geographical Society, public domain, March 1904, also at scran

Gilbert's bagpipes were subsequently donated to the 15th Bn. Royal Scots and played by their Pipe-Major (Sergt. 17017 David Anderson). He was badly wounded and Kerr's old bagpipes were damaged and lost in the same incident (1916).

Anderson however survived WW1 and subsequently joined the City of Edinburgh Police as a Police Constable and he played as a piper in the polis pipe band. There are a couple of newspaper articles mentioning him from the early 1930s in which he is quoted as saying that he very much regretted the loss of Kerr's bagpipes! If Pipe-Major it can't have been for very long as Gilbert was continually away on Arctic and Antarctic expeditions. There are a quite a few newspaper articles that mention him from 1904, 1906, 1909, 1912 etc. and they simply refer to him as Piper Gilbert Kerr and not as Pipe-Major.

Kerr, Henry T.R., A son of Mr. H. F. Kerr, A.R.I.B.A., Edin., was born in 1895, and attended G.W.C. 1905-13. He was an apprentice C.A., and enlisted in the 9th R.S. in Nov. 1914. Gaining a commission in the Cameron Hrs. eight months later, he proved himself an excellent officer, and was assistant instructor to the O.T.C. of the Highland Bde. at Catterick. Crossing to France in Feb. 1916, he saw six months' service round Bethune. In a bombing raid on the Hohenzollern Redoubt, June 30, 1916, he brilliantly achieved his object, but failed to return, and died of wounds in the hands of the enemy, July 3, 1916.  ? Died age 21, from Johnston & King Accountants https://www.icaew.com KERR, HENRY THOMAS ROSS, 2nd Lieut.. 8th (Service) Battn. The Queen's Own (Cameron Highlanders), only s. of Henry Francis Kerr, of 12, East Claremont Street, Edinburgh, A. R.I. B. A., Architect, by by wife, Ada, dau, of the late John Geagan ; b. Edinburgh, 18 Oct. 1895 ; educ. George Watson's College there; was training as Chartered Accountant; enlisted in the Royal Scots Regt. in Nov. 1914: obtained a commission 25 June, 1915; was appointed Assistant Instructor in the Young Officers' Training Corps of the Highland Brigade at Richmond, co. York ; served with the Expeditionary Force in France and Flanders from Feb. 1916 ; was reported missing 30 June, 1916. while leading a bombing party at the Hohenzollern Redoubt (Ben Nevis Sap), and is now officially assumed to have died of wounds 3 July, 1916. His Colonel wrote: "Your son most gallantly led his party right up to the German wire, and, according to one man who took part, he and a few others actually succeeded in entering the German trench. This I cannot vouch for, but that he succeeded in reaching the wire at all in face of the terrible rifle, machine-gun and bomb fire, was a feat demanding the highest courage. On finding that his party was so reduced in numbers, your son adopted the only course that was open to him. He and his party bombed the German trench, and then he gave the order to retire. From that time onwards I can get no definite information as to what happened to him. It was a very bad bit of ground between the two lines, full of shell-holes, disused trenches and broken wire. When the party returned he was found to be missing. Patrols were sent out that and the following nights, but no trace of him could be found. His men who were with him and his brother officers in his company are not hopeful of his chances. I put it plainly as it appears to us. On the other hand, there is the fact that he was not to be found; and might possibly have been wounded and captured. But whether he is now alive or whether he died in his gallant attempt, the fact remains that he carried out his orders to the letter in face of most terrible opposition. Before starting his party became disorganized through the explosion of a mine ; shells poured on them from every direction, but in spite of all he led his men over our parapet and inspired all with his gallantry and devotion to duty. As his Commanding Officer, I can't speak too highly of all his work, and I deplore the loss in him	WWR

KING, Robert, Pte, R.S., third son of Mr. John King, was a pupil at the Academy when war was declared. After leaving school he was employed in the Stewarton branch of the Royal Bank. On attaining the age of 18 in March, 1917, he was called up and detailed to the 9th Royal Scots. In March, 40 1918, he went to France, and in April his battalion took part in the fierce fighting around La Bassée. For a long time thereafter he was reported missing, but he must have fallen on that fiercely contested piece of ground. http://www.kilmarnockacademy.co.uk/formerpupilsww1.htm - Robert King Second brother to die in World War One, born 24, March 1899 Glen street Barrhead Renfrewshire. Residence: Stewarton, Ayrshire 28 Dunlop street Enlisted Ayr, died 12.4.18 44250, formerly 56490 HLI Prior to joining the army Robert was employed at the Royal Bank of Scotland, Stewarton, and was living with his family at 28 Dunlop Street, Stewarton Ayrshire Scotland . Robert followed his two older brothers James and John King into the Colours (James died in Gallipoli on the 12th of July 1915) Robert joined the HLI just three days after his 18th birthday, standing 5 foot 6 and quarter inches tall and 7.5 stones in weight. He transferred regiments and was posted Private with the 9th Royal Scots, On the 27th of March 1917, He embarked for France and was deployed to the Western Front in France, 31st March 1918. In February 1918 the British Army was reorganised and on the 6th Feb the 1/9th Royal Scots transferred to 183rd Brigade, 61st (South Midland) Division. they were in action in The Battle of St Quentin and The Actions at the Somme Crossings they then returned to Flanders and were in action in The Battle of Estaires, And The Battle of Hazebrouck (12–15 April) Hazebrouck was a village in the Nord department in northern France but a major railway crossing. On 12 April, the Sixth Army renewed its attack in the south, towards the important supply centre of Hazebrouck, another 6 miles to the west. The Germans advanced	- some 1 to 2 miles and captured Merville. On 13 April they were stopped by the First Australian Division, which had been transferred to the area.

Robert was reported missing 12th April 1918, Later to be announced as presumed to have died on or since that date
Robert has no known grave and is commemorated on Ploegsteert Memorial to the missing on Panel 1 Ploegsteert, Arrondissement de Mouscron, Hainaut, Belgium, He is also listed on the Stewarton war memorial.
There is a Robert King listed on the Cowan park memorial, but I believe this to be Robert king of the Gordon Highlanders who died age 19 years of wounds at Bellahouston Hospital on 11th March 1919 ,His parents brothers and sisters resided at Hendry street Barrhead East Renfrewshire.

Kinnear, William Robertson (briefly Pipe Major at Catterick) Biography for William Robertson Kinnear in Dick Crawfords book Pipers of The Highland Regiments 1854 to 1902 and in Kinnears case it lists his first war exploits as well. He was born in Arbroath 1881 Played the pipes and danced since a youth. Danced for H.M. Queen Victoria at the Braemar games in 1891. He joined the Camerons on 28th February 1900 at the age of 19 Posted to G coy 2nd Battalion on Gibraltar. Went out with a draft on board the Hawarden Castle on the 10th Sep following. He served on Crete and in South Africa in 1904. In 1906 he accompanied the battalion when they were sent down to the Zulu Rebellion. Transferred to the 1st Battalion and appointed Pipe Major on the 7th February 1907; youngest Pipe Major in the British Army at the time. At the conclusion of His Majesty's visit to Aldershot, 8th July 1911, he was presented with the Royal Victorian Medal, the first man to receive a decoration from George V. He served in France in the First War and was wounded in the right arm and suffered a fracture during the battle of the Aisne, 14th Sep 1914 and again at Loos 25th Sep. 1915. Also served as Pipe Major with the 9th Royal Scots at Catterick Camp and the 2nd Gordons at Aberdeen for a period. Awarded the Croix De Guerre by the French Government. While proposing a toast to H.M. The King (must have been a Gaelic one) he had forgotten the words and offered an explanation that "as a Scotsman, I cannot propose a gaelic toast in foreign wine" Quickly reviewing his Gaelic while a drinking cup of whisky was obtained, he proposed a second toast and keeping with the Best Traditions, he threw the cup over his shoulder and unfortunately the Head waiter was standing behind him and got hit in the face. He was discharged to pension in 1919. Emigrated to South Africa in 1922 and settled at Mayfair. He then served as Pipe major of the 1st Transval Scottish until	-

transferred to the Witwatersrand Rifles in 1936. When recognised by the Prince of Wales on a visit, was asked "I know you, what Regiment were you with in Britain?" when told the Prince replied "Oh! You're Pipe Major Kinnear" Taught piping and dancing at the Jeppe School Band and he died in Johannesburg General Hospital, 25th April 1974 age 93 Dick list's his medals as The Royal Victorian Medal, 1914 Star and bar Trio and French Croix de Guerre  Left London 1910, right 1st Camerons, Dublin 1907 Courtesy jimmy4174 et al GWF

University of Edinburgh Roll of Honour (1921) - James Balfour Kirk b.7 April 1893 d.26 March 1984 CMG MB ChB Edin(1917) DPH Oxon(1921) DTM&H(1922) MRCP(1933) FRCP(1942) Balfour Kirk was born at Falkirk and lived to the age of 90. He was educated at George Watson's College and Edinburgh University, and like so many of his generation of medical students joined the Army, in the ranks, as a combatant at the outbreak of war in 1914, before being sent back to complete his medical training in 1917 and then rejoin the RAMC. After the war he took a DPH and the DTM&H and joined the Colonial Service as MOH of Port Louis, Mauritius. He rose to be director of medical services in Mauritius and was transferred to the Gold Coast (Ghana) as director in 1941. He served with UNRRA in Greece, and later in Germany, and was awarded the CMG. On retiring from the Colonial Service he joined the Ministry of Health and served there until 1962. Balfour became a member of the College in 1933 and a Fellow nine years later. He had a broad knowledge of medicine and a clear, succinct way of expressing it. He was a patient and valuable reviewer and collator of drafts in the Ministry of Health; abilities which were used to the full in the editing of its medical publications, including the CMO's annual report On the state of the Public	-

Health and the special reports then known as 'Grey Books', which ranged from reports on maternal deaths to the testing of very young handicapped children by Mary Sheridan. He succeeded Alison Glover, also a Fellow [Munk's Roll, Vol.V, p.152], in this work. He was used as a confidant and adviser by colleagues at all levels without ever becoming a partisan of any particular group, or a passer-on of anyone else's opinions, no mean achievement in that kind of cloister. Balfour ran the Monthly Bulletin of the Ministry and the Public Health Laboratory Service, which became the forerunner of Health Trends. Balfour was a shrewd, laconic Scot with a lively sense of humour. He was physically active, regularly playing five holes of golf before breakfast - on the course which was at the foot of his garden in Surrey -and then walking the mile and a half from Victoria to the office in Saville Row. He gardened, was something of a gourmet, an expert on wines, and a carenil but assiduous operator in the stock market. He had married on qualification in 1917; a marriage that lasted the rest of his life. He enjoyed 22 years of his second retirement till his death in 1984. Sir George Godber [Brit.med.J., 1984,288,1769] (Volume VIII, page 262) http://munksroll.rcplondon.ac.uk/Biography/Details/2576
